TriDelta Financial Guide

An 'All in One Place' guide for your convenience.

Many clients who manage their own or their families' financial matters have expressed concern that if something should happen to them, their spouses or loved ones would not have ready access to all relevant financial information.

One of the greatest gifts we have seen is where the individual responsible for the family's financial affairs leaves clear, well organized plans and directions should something happen to them. At TriDelta, we believe it is important that financial peace of mind extends to the whole family.

To help with this, we have put together the TriDelta All in One Place – Financial Peace of Mind Guide. There is a great amount of detail in this guide and some of it may not be relevant to you. Please complete only the parts that you feel are important. Once you are comfortable with your information, this Guide should be printed and the file saved in a safe location, but accessible by other family members in an emergency.

Initial Executor Task List

- 1 Obtain All in One Place — Financial Peace of Mind guide from your secure computer files or a printed copy from a safe place.
- 2 Obtain deceased's identification and credit cards, and gather all files relevant to the information in the guide.
- 3 If the deceased was employed at the date of death, advise their employer of their death.
- 4 Locate the most recent Will and any codicils or memoranda.
- 5 Contact clergy for guidance on arranging the funeral service and burial/cremation.
- 6 Obtain eight original death certificates from the funeral home.
- 7 Contact the Government of Canada at 1.800.277.9914 to notify them and for information on the Canada Pension Plan and the Old Age Security program. Ask the agent for other Government numbers and departments that might be important.

Contact key Advisors listed in the All in One Place – Financial Peace of Mind guide. Inform each of the death, and ask for their recommendations on next steps. You may want to work with one individual who can help you walk through the process. This is often a Lawyer or Financial Planner like those found at TriDelta Private Wealth.

This Guide is provided for information purposes only. It is recommended that individuals discuss their estate issues with their legal, accounting and financial planners.
